Excerpt: . . . respond to an influenza pandemic. The National Strategy recognizes that preparing for and responding to a pandemic cannot be viewed as a purely federal responsibility, stating that in addition to the federal government, states and communities, the private sector, individual citizens, and global partnerships all play a role in addressing the pandemic threat. Among other things, it calls for the federal government to provide guidance to the private sector and critical infrastructure entities in their role in a pandemic response, and considerations necessary to maintain essential services and operations. According to the National Strategy, movement of essential personnel, goods, and services and maintenance of critical infrastructure are necessary during an outbreak of influenza pandemic that could span months in any given community. It also states that the private sector and critical infrastructure entities must respond in a manner that allows them to maintain the essential elements of their operations for a prolonged period of time, in order to prevent severe disruption of life in U. S. communities. To ensure this, the National Strategy...
